

IT Manager Institute and ITBMC Certification Program

IT Manager Institute #56 – 2013 – Dubai, United Arab Emirates

IT managers have the toughest management challenge!

Consider these annual survey facts:

- Over 50% of IT organizations are out of sync with their companies.
- Up to 70% of IT projects fail.
- Senior executives don't understand IT and have difficulty quantifying IT value.
- IT is often viewed as reactive, unresponsive and unreliable, and there is no one around to help an IT manager

All of these problematic issues are easily resolved if you have the knowledge and insight or experience in dealing with them.

For example, it only takes 1-2 hours to discover an IT organization is out of sync with their company. And, when you do just a couple of things there is no way to have an IT-Business disconnect. Guaranteed.

The other issues are also easy to address with knowledge and insight every IT manager needs.

Mike Sisco, ITBMC

I was an IT manager and CIO for more than twenty years and fortunate to work for companies where I could observe and work with hundreds of IT organizations.

In my early years of IT management, I struggled like so many young managers do. By investing in my management knowledge, observing senior managers, and learning from a few failures at times, , , I developed processes and tools to help me consistently achieve IT success.

In my CIO role I looked for practical training programs to develop young IT managers but could not find anything of value.

In 2000 MDE Enterprises, Inc. was created and the IT Manager Institute launched in 2003 to make a difference. Our mission is simple:

“helping IT managers of the world
achieve more success”

BENEFITS

IT organizations offer their company huge leverage. In fact, only IT has the ability to improve every organization within your company by:

- Decreasing cost
- Improving productivity

Boost your career when you achieve more success. Senior managers need leaders who are:

- Proactive
- Predictable and reliable
- Initiatives are business driven
- Cost justify every recommendation
- Deliver business value

You will learn to manage the business of IT support versus managing technology – a huge difference.

The IT Manager Institute will show you how to do all of this step by step and provide you with a practical IT Management Process and guidance on:

- What to do to achieve IT success
- How to go about it
- Tools and resources you can use immediately

You will finish the program empowered to achieve more IT success because you will have a path to follow, insight as to why things happen the way they do and all the tools you need to do the job.

A few key examples include:

- Eliminate the IT-Business disconnect forever
- Develop business driven IT strategies proactively
- Deliver business value & gain senior manager praise
- Differentiate yourself with successful projects
- Create IT credibility to become a business partner
- Quantify and communicate IT value
- Motivate your team with little or no money
- Learn about the work behavior traits of IT people
 - Why these traits create challenge
 - How to resolve employee conflicts
 - How to overcome communication challenges
- Build achievable budgets quickly and easily
- Cost justify IT initiatives and develop ROI
- Learn how to communicate with non-IT managers
- Find cost savings that more than pay for the program
- , , , and much more

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The IT Manager Institute program was designed to accommodate anyone who has a vested interest in the success of an IT organization.

This includes senior IT managers and non-IT executives with many years of experience as well as first-time managers with little or no actual management experience.

A typical class includes candidates:

- From all industries
- From large and small companies
- With significant differences in management experience
- From all parts of the world

ITBMC CERTIFICATION

Managers who pass a 5-part ITBMC exam qualify for ITBMC status.

IT Business Manager Certification was developed in a joint venture between MDE Enterprises, Inc. and Belmont University in 2005. It recognizes the student has received the IT Manager Institute resources and training and understands the importance of focusing on the business of

IT support to deliver tangible & quantifiable
business value!

AGENDA

Session-1 - IT Manager Foundation

Learn about the Triple Threat to IT Success™, key traits of a successful IT manager, and about the personality dynamics of IT employees that both help and hinder their efforts. This foundation material will help you understand “why” things happen as you learn best practices in how to manage technology resources effectively.

Session-2 - IT Assessment

The key to success is identifying what to work on and what your organization can do. Follow a proven formula to conduct an IT assessment for any level of IT responsibility you might have. A case study makes it very real.

Session-3 - IT Strategy

Don't wait to be asked, , , develop your IT strategy now and gain senior management's respect. This step is key in aligning your IT organization with your company's business needs and objectives.

Session-4 - IT Project Management

Delivering projects successfully is the path to credibility. Use simple techniques and tools to do so and that report IT value and you will separate your organization from others.

Session-5 - IT Organization

Right-size your organization to support the business and start by conducting a skills inventory that defines what you need and what you have. Focus on the gaps to get there quicker and reliably.

Session-6 - IT Staff Motivation & Development

Learn to motivate your staff like never before, , , and with little or no money. A motivated staff can do powerful things and will walk through fire for their manager.

Session-7 - IT Processes

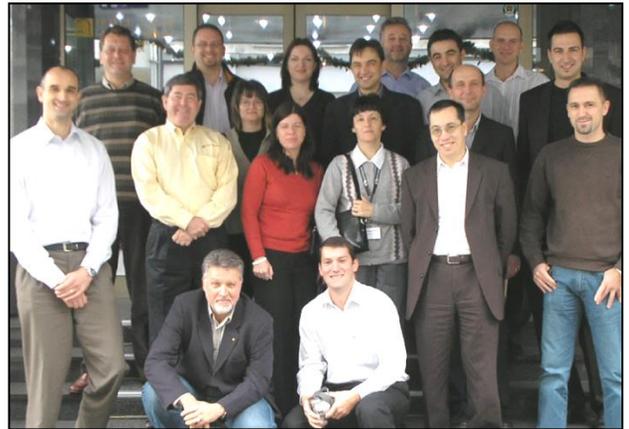

Key processes are needed to help your team provide IT support. Incorporate a few simple processes to help them execute successfully and become a predictable organization.

Session-8 - IT Policies and Procedures

You may not like policies and procedures, but they can save you lots of grief and reduce risk. Learn to develop and implement practical policies that work for your company.

Session-9 - IT Budgeting

Budgeting is quick and easy when you have a process and tools to help you do the job plus insight in how to create budgets you can achieve.
